Treasury Ruling Hits Army Reserve Corps

FAILURE of the present session of Congress to pass H. R. 3592, "to more clearly define the status of Reserve Officers not on active duty or on active duty for training only," will result in the automatic separation from the Officers' Reserve Corps of thousands of its ablest members, it was indicated in wires sent this week to members of both Houses from R. O. A. departments and chapters, bar associations and civic agencies all over the country.

Resignations and failure to renew commissions because of the Treasury ruling on the Reserve Officers' status are said to have already been disquietingly numerous. It is understood that there were about 55 resignations due to this cause during the past month. The number of Reserve Officers who would be disbarred from practicing in one or another capacity before the Treasury Department alone is estimated to be around 10,000; but the Treasury ruling, upheld by the Attorney General, classifies Reserve Officers as officers of the government under criminal statutes debarring them from practice before any of the government departments.

The holding by a Reserve Officer of any position of profit or trust under the government is threatened under the decision. This classification renders many others disqualified to practice before the agencies of their States. While exact figures cannot be had, it is believed that at least 25,000 Reserve Officers will be detrimentally affected if the Treasury ruling is not remedied by law.

Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly, chairman of the legislative committee of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States early this week wrote to Harry C. Ransley, acting chairman of the House Committee on Military (Please turn to Next Page)

Former ROA Heads Named On Council By Col. Cole

COL. WALTER C. COLE, National President of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States, this week announced the appointment of an Advisory Council of the Association, to be composed only of the former National presidents and selected members of the Association who have rendered conspicuous services in behalf of an adequate system of national defense.

The members of the Council, appointed by Col. Cole, are: Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly, first president of the Association and widely known writer on military problems and international affairs; Brig. Gen. John Ross Delafield, of New York, second national president and attorney; Brig. Gen. Roy Hoffman, of Oklahoma City, Okla., third national president and attorney; Col. Charles Burton Robbins of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, former The Assistant Secretary of War and president of the Cedar Rapids Life Insurance Company; Col. Noble Brandon Judah, of Chicago, former Ambassador to Cuba and attorney; Col. Paul V. McNutt, of Bloomington, Ind., former National Commander of The American Legion and Dean of the Indiana University School of Law; Col. Frank Knox, of New York, General Manager of the Hearst Newspapers; Brig. Gen. Edward Orton, jr., of Columbus, Ohio, former Senior Vice President of the Association and former Dean of the College of Engineering of the Ohio State University; Col. Carl R. Gray, jr., of St. Paul, Minn., Vice President and General Manager of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railway Company; Col. Perry W. Weidner, of Los Angeles, President of the United States National Bank.

Greetings, Graduates

THE ARMY AND Navy Journal wishes to extend its congratulations and best wishes to the new officers of the three services. For them four arduous, but happy years of academy life have been completed and they are looking forward to careers of service to their nation. As it has done for the thousands of officers in the past 67 years the Journal will strive to keep them accurately informed and will fight for their best interests.

News of the graduation at Annapolis may be found in this issue on pages 942, 944, 951, 957, 958, and 960. The names, order of merit and designation to arms of the West Pointers are on page 950.

Pay Subcommittee Urged

THE APPOINTMENT of a subcommittee to hold hearings on the question of service pay is being seriously considered by members of the joint pay committee. With chances of any sort of action by the full committee growing slimmer as the day of adjournment approaches, this proposal was advanced and found immediate favor.

Representative French, vice chairman of the joint committee, said yesterday that he had been discussing the idea with other members and although no conclusion had been reached yet, he expected that the committee would get together very soon and make a decision. He indicated that he favored the plan.

Representative Barbour was wholly in sympathy with the idea, and was of the opinion that the hearings could be concluded in a short time. He expects to leave for California as soon as the session is over and would be willing to allow the hearings, if not concluded by then, to continue in his absence.

The proposition of summer hearings by the full committee found little backing, for few of the Representatives intend to stay in Washington after adjournment, and if the Senate is called for an extra session to consider the treaty, members of that body want to dispatch the treaty as soon as possible (Please turn to Page 959)

Politics May Delay Treaty Ratification

By M. H. MCINTYRE

WITH the Senate Foreign Relations Committee winding up its work on the London Treaty, the show-down appears to be at hand.

Merely awaiting transmission of further confidential documents from the State Department, demanded by Senator Johnson, and printing of the testimony, which will then be supplied each member for study, the committee will probably complete its report next week.

Unless some surprise is sprung in the "revelations" sought in the diplomatic exchanges a favorable report by a large majority is anticipated with the prospect of a minority report, sponsored by Senator Johnson, opposing ratification.

While there is some talk of an immediate consideration of the Treaty by the Senate following disposal of the tariff, it is generally accepted that a special session will be convened following adjournment and, with all the pressure the administration can bring to bear, final action sought with as little delay as possible.

There is some interesting speculation over what may happen. One report has it that opponents of the pact will move for an adjournment just after the special session convenes in the hope that there will be a sufficient number of Senators who, for political reasons or a desire to get back to their home campaigns or for other motives, would be willing to "walk out" on the administration.

Another, and one that is more seriously considered, is that some of the Democratic Senators who even intend to vote for ratification eventually will seek to delay action to embarrass the President, whose insistence on prompt ratification has been fostered by a realization by administration leaders that there is serious danger in prolonged delay.

A clear case has been made against the Treaty. As summarized by Senator McKellar the agreement fails signally to fulfill any of the promises made after the Rapidan conference. (Please turn to Page 959)

Housing Needs Cited By Gen. Summerall

HEARINGS on the James construction bill H. R. 1665 on air corps technical construction commenced in the House Committee on Military Affairs on June 2. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, Chief of Staff, and Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, Chief of the Air Corps, were named by Acting Secretary of War F. Trubee Davison to represent War Department ideas on the two bills.

A communication to Mr. Ransley, acting chairman of the committee, from Mr. Davison, stressing the importance of these bills in the Army housing program and urging their early enactment, was read.

Mr. Davison, appearing briefly in person, assured the committee of the deep interest of Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley in these bills, explaining that Mr. Hurley was not yet sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be present.

The bills were of two kinds, Mr. Davison said — HR 1665 authorizing appropriations for such facilities as barracks and quarters, the other being an Air Corps technical construction bill. Both bills were part of the program to replace temporary structures with permanent ones, and essential to the 1932 increment of that program. Without their passage the War Department would be unable to ask the Director of the Budget and Congress for approval of the 1932 construction appropriation figures.

Gen. Summerall stated that HR 1665 was the result of much thought and conference in the War Department. Introduced April 22, 1929, it was now found desirable to add to some items and reduce others. The changes he suggested were embodied in a new bill introduced June 2 by Mr. Ransley.

The $15,000,000 appropriation authorized includes $7,728,000 for nine Air Corps posts, some new and some in (Please turn to Page 939)

Col. Tschappat Selected As Asst. Chief Of Ordnance

COL. WILLIAM H. TSCHAPPAT, OD, now on duty as Ordnance Officer, Headquarters of the Philippine Department, was nominated June 2 to be assistant to the Chief of Ordnance with the rank of brigadier general for a term of four years, succeeding Maj. Gen. Samuel Hof, who became chief of Ordnance.

On the same day that President Hoover sent Col. Tschappat's nomination to the Senate that body confirmed the nomination of Gen. Hof to be Chief of Ordnance.

As in the case of the new chief, Col. Tschappat has been an ordnance officer virtually all of his career, with the exception of the first few years when he served in the Field Artillery. Thus it appears that the precedent set a few months ago of appointing line officers to head the staff branches will not become a policy.

Col. Tschappat will not be a newcomer in Washington for he served previously in the office of the chief of ordnance in 1900, again in 1918 to 1921, and later 1925 to 1929.

Col. Tschappat was born in Ohio, Aug. 10, 1874, and appointed to the Military Academy from that State in June, 1892. Upon graduation from West Point in 1896, he was appointed second lieutenant of Artillery and assigned to the 5th Artillery at Fort Slocum, New York. On March 19, 1898, he was transferred to Fort Hancock, N. J., and served at that station until June 20, the same year, when he was ordered to Fort Hamilton, N. Y. He (Please turn to Next Page)

Mrs. Yarnell Quits Navy League

MRS. HARRY E. YARNELL, wife of Rear Adm. Yarnell, one of the Naval advisers with the London delegation, has resigned from the Navy League because she considers its attitude on the London Treaty "detrimental to the Navy and the nation."

Mrs. Yarnell, whose husband is chief of the bureau of engineering, Navy Department, was in London with Adm. Yarnell and is deeply interested in the ratification of the treaty. Her letter of resignation was written after reading a newspaper report of a radio address delivered by William Howard Gardiner, president of the Navy League, in which he opposed immediate ratification of the treaty and urged that Senate action be postponed until December.

The text of the letter of resignation follows:

"Washington, May 31, 1930.
"My dear Mr. Gardiner:
"Since reading in Friday's New York Herald Tribune this morning the attitude of the Navy League in regard to the London treaty, I find I can no longer remain a member and now ask that my name be taken off the list.

"I think you will soon discover that the league has taken a wrong course and one that is quite unpatriotic. As I have been a member of the Navy League for many years and my father was instrumental in the conception of its formation, you can well understand it is hard to find I no longer approve of its activities which at present I consider are detrimental to the Navy and the nation.

"Yours very truly,
"EMILY C. YARNELL."

Mrs. Yarnell is the daughter of Rear Adm. Charles M. Thomas, who took the U. S. Fleet around the world in 1908 during the illness of his immediate superior, Adm. Robley D. Evans. Adm. Thomas was one of those who helped in the formation of the Navy League.

Mr. Gardiner's speech, reproduced elsewhere in this issue, strongly urged that calm deliberation be given to the treaty by the Senate before acting upon it. This, he said, cannot be done in a special session in the summer but should wait until the fall session. In one place he said, "As to the naval aspects of the treaty, four admirals, picked to go to London by the State Department, endorse the treaty. But eighteen admirals, including that embodiment of the ideals of the Navy, Adm. Jones, and all the members of the general board, as well as half a dozen junior officers, all oppose the treaty in toto or in essential respects."

Two days previous to Mrs. Yarnell's action, Adm. Yarnell had filed with the Senate committee on Foreign Relations a memorandum strongly supporting the London treaty.

"Eights" Favored Over "Sixes" By Newspapers in Cruiser Gun Controversy

PREPONDERANCE of public opinion favors the Navy General Board's stand on the necessity for cruisers with eight-inch guns, newspaper editorials indicate. The controversy between "the sixes and the eights" has been raging among those writing on the treaty as well as at the committee hearings, and some have even dug into history to prove or disprove that one is more effective than the other. Those who back the eight-inch gun point to the battle of Coronel during the World War and the several naval engagements during the Spanish-American fracas to prove their point. On the other side, learned discussions are entered into as to speed, gunnery, armor protection and tactics to show that the results of these battles were due to other causes than the superior range of the guns of higher caliber. Others rely on the testimony of the naval officers who have been heard by the Senate committees, some taking the word of the majority opinion and favoring the eight-inch gun, while a few make out that because the matter has never been conclusively proved it is a very minor detail of the treaty.

ONE conclusion the public is bound to draw from the tactics of treaty critics, that conclusion is that these admirals are trying to tear down what was done in London out of sheer childish pique," declares the Birmingham Age Herald (Independent Democratic). "They have been denouncing six-inch gun cruisers, and yet on former occasions they have found that type of vessel quite respectable. In short, they have been acting not as responsible men but as angry bureaucrats.

"That will not strengthen them in the future, just as it avails them nothing now. The treaty is going through, but not without shaking the confidence of the country in the naval general board. Had the big navy people realized this in time, they would not have damaged their cause so cruelly. But as things stand, they are doomed not merely to frustration on the immediate issue, but to see their pride and joy, the masters of the quarterdeck, suffer from a lowered prestige for years to come."

"SUPERIORITY in gun caliber is only one factor of a naval battle," maintains the Hartford Courant (Republican). "Visibility, the state of the established sea policy of the nations involved, the quality of the gunnery, the weather, the relation of a particular engagement to the main battle or to the speed of the opposing ships, the intelligence of the commanders, the age and condition of the ships, the armor protection and the number of vessels engaged on each side are other highly important factors. * * * Whether three extra 8-inch cruisers would serve America better than their equivalent tonnage in ships of the 6-inch type, is a matter that cannot be settled by pencil and paper."

"OF course it is entirely obvious that with the magnificent distances existing between our bases, we require bigger police cruisers carrying heavier armament," declares the Lafayette, Ind., Journal-Courier (Republican). "It is vital that we should retain the right to build, not what some other power lays down for us to build, but precisely and only the types we actually need in our prime business of safety first."

THE Norfolk, Va., Ledger Dispatch (Independent Democratic) facetiously suggests that: "We should entrust our naval problems, the effectiveness of guns, the maneuvers of the Fleet in the event of an emergency, to civilians, notably to Mr. Robinson of Arkansas, and Mr. Reed of Pennsylvania, two United States Senators who, since their appointment as members of President Hoover's delegation to the London Conference, have gained a knowledge of naval affairs that is superior to that of the officers upon whom the country must rely unless Reed and Robinson can be spared from the Senate, or Secretary of State Stimson should leave the Cabinet to take command afloat."

"THE treaty brings about such parity, or, at any rate, something very like it," avers the Ithaca Journal News (Non-Partisan). "The difference between what it gives and what the General Board would like is the difference between 21 cruisers of 10,000 tons with eight-inch guns, and 18 cruisers of 10,000 tons with eight-inch guns plus three 10,000-ton cruisers with six-inch guns. Certainly this difference is not enormous."

was promoted to first lieutenant, Ordnance Department, Oct. 4, 1898, and transferred to Watertown Arsenal, Mass.

At Watertown

He continued on duty at Watertown Arsenal until August, 1900, when he was transferred to Washington, D. C., in the office of Chief of Ordnance. In October, 1901, he was transferred to Sandy Hook Proving Ground, Fort Hancock, and on Feb. 16, 1903, was promoted to captain, Ordnance Department. In June of the same year he was detailed as inspector of ordnance, Bethlehem Steel Company, and continued on that duty until 1906.

In September, 1906, Col. Tschappat was ordered to Cuba as Chief Ordnance Officer, Army of Cuban Pacification and Depot Ordnance Officer, Havana, Cuba. In May, 1907, he returned to the United States for duty at Picatinny Arsenal, Dover, N. J. On Sept. 19, the same year, he was promoted to major, Ordnance Department, remaining on duty at Picatinny Arsenal until August, 1912, when he was detailed at the Military Academy as Professor of Ordnance and Gunnery. Aug. 17, 1915, he was promoted to lieutenant colonel, Ordnance Department, and in July, 1917, was transferred to Port of Embarkation, Newport News, Va., as Ordnance Officer of the Port. Jan. 11, 1918, he was appointed colonel, Ordnance Department, National Army, and in February of that year returned to the Military Academy for a continuation of his duty as Professor of Ordnance and Gunnery. July 8, 1918, he was again transferred to Washington, D. C., for duty in the office of Chief of Ordnance.

Colonel, USA

Sept. 4, 1919, he reverted to his regular rank of lieutenant colonel and on the same date was promoted to colonel, Ordnance Department, Regular Army.

While in the office of the Chief of Ordnance he performed the duties of Assistant to the Chief of the Nitrate Division and later as Officer in Charge

Protests Reserve Status

Affairs, stating that Solicitor Lawrence Becker, of the Treasury Department, who first promulgated the status ruling, had assured him that, not only was there no objection to the bill in the Treasury Department, but that he himself would gladly appear before the military committee in support of the bill.

Judge Becker was compelled to render his ruling because of the wording of the law, Gen. Reilly pointed out, but recognizes the urgency of the present bill. Judge Becker is reported to favor amending the bill so as to clarify the status of the reserve officers of all branches of the government—Navy, Marines, Coast Guard, Public Health Service and others.

Col. Cole Wires

The following telegram was sent by Col. Walter C. Cole, president of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States, to Senators Couzens and Vandenberg, and Representatives McLeod, Clancy, Hudson, Michener and Cramton:

"Earnestly request your support and co-operation securing passage before adjournment of House bill 3592 introduced Congressman James to define civilian status Reserve Officers. At-

of the Personnel Section, Administrative Division. June 9, 1919, he was made Chief of Ordnance Theory, Instruments and Metallurgy Division of the Technical Staff and remained on that duty until July, 1921, when he was made Chief, Ballistics and Ordnance Theory Division of the Technical Staff. On July 1, 1922, Col. Tschappat became Commanding Officer of the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Aberdeen, Md. He remained at Aberdeen until June 30, 1925, when he was again ordered to Washington for duty in the Office of Chief of Ordnance as Chief of the Technical Staff.

Sept. 12, 1929, Col. Tschappat sailed for Manila, where he is now on duty as Ordnance Officer, Headquarters of the Philippine Department.

"ADM. PRATT and other naval experts who now undertake to 'sell' the six-inch gun to the Senate, face a similar difficulty in that the job of 'selling' the eight-inch gun, as a superior weapon, was done with almost too much effectiveness by the combined efforts of the Americans in favoring it and of the British in opposing it at Geneva in 1927," states the Springfield Republican. "The naval treaty should certainly be ratified, yet, so far as the lessons of the World War are concerned, it will have to be admitted that they are on the side of the eight-inch gun. The battle of Coronel, off the Chilean coast in November, 1914, has become the classic example. The German cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneissau, each armed with eight-inch guns, sank with all on board, and almost without suffering a scratch or a casualty in return, the two British armored cruisers, Good Hope and Monmouth. The Good Hope and Monmouth were of larger aggregate tonnage but except for two 9.2 guns of an older type on the Good Hops, one or both of which were early put out of the action, the British ships were armed only with six-inch guns."

"ALTHOUGH American naval experts were pretty well agreed before the conference that the larger cruisers with bigger guns were more suited to the United States because of our few naval bases, Adm. Pratt accepted the compromise and now admits that he has changed his mind on the subject," comments the Memphis Commercial Appeal (Democratic). "If the contentions of Rear Adm. Jones be correct, the United States is building ships to suit Great Britain rather than herself. * * * Will not the average man believe that if we are going to spend such an amount of money, we should surely spend it on what we want rather than what Great Britain wants us to have? * * * regardless of agreements, friendships and all that sort of thing, an American navy should be for America rather than for any other country."

"THE General Board is embarrassed further by Adm. Jones' letter of last June, in which he appeared to think six-inch gun cruisers equal in value to ships carrying larger guns," states the Newark Evening News (Independent). "Nobody knows what the eight-inch gun cruiser is worth, for it has never been tried in battle. Its value is wholly theoretical. * * * there are already said to be misgivings among naval authorities as to the worth of these ships and, for certain purposes, the six-inch gun ships permissible under the London treaty are believed by some of the naval authorities to be more effective. The relative value is still theoretical."

"THERE is no doubt that the six-inch gun cruisers would be confined to our own home waters in case of trouble," states the Dubuque, Iowa, Telegraph-Herald (Independent). "We haven't naval bases scattered throughout the world to service such crafts, as Great Britain has. Their cruising radius is so limited that Uncle Sam could not depend upon them for action in distant places." The Telegraph Herald advocates ratification of the treaty however, saying: "If small cruisers will not suit our needs we can go slow in building that class, but by all means we should speed up construction in other classes. Then if we find that we need more heavy cruisers, Uncle Sam can demand them in the naval conference due in 1936."

"ADM. PRATT brought out clearly the folly of technical criticism of the treaty when he discussed the merits of the six-inch and eight-inch gun cruisers," comments the Cincinnati Enquirer (Independent). "We don't know which is the better, the admiral said, because we have never fought with either one. * * * The question before the Senate, in short, is one of the broad national foreign policy. * * * instead, it is being treated as a problem in naval mathematics at the hands of men who are anything but mathematicians."

"LET'S go slow about dropping to six-inch guns for our cruisers," advocates the Fort Wayne, Ind., News Sentinel (Republican). "We have a feeling that six-inch guns for American battleships suit the British purpose far better than the American purpose. We are good friends with Britain now, and we hope we may continue to be. But there have been times, and * * * you never can tell."

torney General has approved ruling Treasury Department to effect that Reserve Officer is officer of Federal Government at all times. Since this ruling many Reserve Officers have been denied right to practice before Treasury Department. If this bill is not enacted this session many thousands Reserve officers holding various Federal and State offices of trust and profit will be required to resign commissions at once to preserve their qualifications to hold such positions. Your support this measure, which has wholehearted support of War Department, will be appreciated.

Col. Cole also wired Mr. Ransley to the same effect.

Gen. Hoffman Helps

The former president of the national R. O. A., Brig. Gen. Roy Hoffman, of Oklahoma City, wired Representative Jim McClintic and the other Oklahoma delegates as follows:

"Am advised that Treasury Department has recently held that a lawyer holding a reserve commission is thereby disqualified from practicing before any of the departments. This ruling seriously affects a great many officers in this State and unless overcome will force resignation. House Resolution 3592 now in House Military Affairs Committee would remove this disability and has government support. A Reserve Officer serving without pay should suffer no disqualification thereby in earning a livelihood in civil life by reason of his patriotic desire to be in a position to serve our country in time of peril. His status as Federal officer is only nominal, operative on duty calls, and the statute now construed to bar him from Federal practice originated long before reserve commissions were authorized. Upon behalf of the Reserve Officers and in the interest of an economic citizens' national defense I urge you to expedite the passage of this resolution in the present Congress."

One of the first of the hundreds of wires sent to Congress was that of Col. Wilbur M. Phelps, Med. Res., president of the Virginia Department, R.

O. A., to Representative Henry St. George Tucker.

Col. Phelps' Message

"As president of the Department of Virginia, Reserve Officers' Association of the United States," read Col. Phelps' message, "I wish to assure you that the Reserve Officers of Virginia urge the passage of House of Representatives bill 3592, now in hands of Military Affairs Committee of the House, defining status of Reserve Officers. May I ask you to convey to all the members of the Virginia delegation in the House the expressed wish of all their constituents who are Reserve Officers that members of Virginia vote in favor of this bill, which will remove a legal disability that would otherwise deprive the United States of the services of valuable Reserve Officers? Unless this bill is passed before adjournment of present session of Congress the Reserve component of the Army will be seriously crippled. Will you convey the above information to the Speaker of the House and the chairman of the Military Affairs Committee? Prominent members of the bar in Staunton, including Floridus Crosby, chairman of the Democratic Committee of Staunton, and Judge Henry Holt, heartily support bill and urge passage."

No opposition to the bill has appeared in either House. Once out of committee, it is anticipated that the bill will go forward to passage without dissent, but committee calendar congestion is such as to make its consideration this session unlikely.

It was not until the fall of 1928 that the possibility of Reserve Officers' being held to be officers of the government first occurred. At that time a lawyer from Georgia, a Reserve Officer, sought to practice law before the Treasury Department. Solicitor Becker then rendered an opinion that a Reserve Officer was debarred from such practice under Section 109 of the Criminal Code. The Attorney General subsequently upheld the ruling, and other Reserve Officers have since been advised that they might not legally retain their reserve commissions and practice before the government departments.

complete, and $7,772,000 for 31 posts of the rest of the Army.

There was no change made in the appropriations for Allbrook Field, non-commissioned officers' quarters, $75,000; non commissioned officers' service club, $30,000; officers' mess, $40,000; guardhouse, $25,000; garage, $25,000; quartermaster warehouse, $10,000; theater, $12,000; gymnasium, $20,000; post exchange, $12,000; fire station, $10,000; magazine, $15,000. Gen. Summerall said that this was one of the most important fields in the Canal Zone, and that it was very important that there should be no delay in completing it.

Corozal Important

Corozal was likewise pronounced a very important installation, deterioration of its buildings making permanent construction urgent. Appropriations of $80,000 for noncommissioned officers' quarters, $319,500 for officers' quarters and $10,000 for an engineer map reproduction building is provided for this post.

Construction in the Canal Zone would be of concrete-covered tile, impervious to ants. The life of such construction was declared indefinite.

The old buildings at Ft. Davis were pronounced beyond repair. The bill gives this post $95,500 for barracks; $57,000 for noncommissioned officers' quarters, and $117,000 for officers' quarters.

The War Department was said to find it very difficult to build within budget limitations, but the estimates given were well within them, the Chief of Staff said.

Living conditions at Schofield Barracks were called deplorable. Noncommissioned officers' quarters at $75,000 and officers' quarters at $225,000 are provided.

Drop Wheeler Field

Appropriations for a gymnasium, post exchange and theater at Wheeler Field of $70,000 was dropped in the War Department revision, leaving $15,000 for a fire station, $25,000 for a guardhouse, $10,000 for a quartermaster utilities warehouse and shops, and $30,000 for a garage.

Inasmuch, Gen. Summerall told the committee, as living conditions in the Philippines had improved, it was decided to omit the $16,140 appropriation for Ft. William McKinley and the $481,760 appropriation for Camp Stotsenburg.

Ft. Ethan Allen is given $15,000 for noncommissioned officers' quarters.

A $350,000 barracks was substituted for $100,000 noncommissioned officers' quarters at Ft. Benning, and the item of $600,000 for officers' quarters raised to $716,660. The difficulty of sending junior officers, with their low rental allowances, to the Infantry School, was stressed.

Appropriations for the Ft. Bliss veterinary hospital would be $25,000.

The War Department added Ft. Banks to the bill, $220,000 for the post hospital, to be the 1st Corps Area hospital.

Praises Bolling Field

Bolling Field was declared by Gen. Summerall to possess all the requirements for a permanent station. Recent addition of six acres, he said, made for an ideal landing field. This field gets $118,000 for barracks; $162,000 for noncommissioned officers' quarters; $285,000 for officers' quarters; $45,000 for a quartermaster warehouse; $20,000 for quartermaster utilities warehouse and shops; $20,000 for a garage; $15,000 for a fire house; $20,000 for a guardhouse; $15,000 for a post exchange; $40,000 for theater and gymnasium; $20,000 for a dispensary; $5,000 for a railroad spur, and $5,000 for an incinerator.

All Construction Permanent

Asked if the construction at Bolling Field was to be of permanent character, Gen. Summerall replied that it was and that all the construction contained in the bill was to be of permanent character also.

Gen. Speaks, of the committee, said that there should be a survey to determine what posts should be preserved and what old posts abandoned.

Mr. Stafford was told by the Chief of Staff that all the posts in the bill were permanent ones.

Answering Mr. McSwain, Gen. Summerall said that the only permanent non-occupied posts were some of the Coast Artillery which cost too much for boat service. He said that there once had been the suggestion of a concentration of the Army in a small number of posts, but that was inimical to the National Defense Act idea of the use of the Regular Army for the training of the civilian components. Under such a scheme, those components would be far removed from the military centers in many cases, he said. As many of the Coast Artillery posts as possible were being occupied for training the civilian components, he added. He said that all Army stations were established in the most economical and efficient way.

Striking out a $400,000 appropriation for barracks at Ft. Bragg, the War Department proposal provides $200,000 instead for officers' quarters. The original $375,000 for a hospital and $25,000 for non-commissioned officers' quarters are retained.

No change was suggested in the $80,000 for a central heating plant and installation of a distributing system, and the $120,000 for barracks at Carlisle Barracks, or in the $60,000 for a hospital at Ft. Hamilton.

Conditions "Deplorable"

To the $130,000 for a hospital at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, $60,000 for officers' quarters and $25,000 for non-commissioned officers' quarters were added. Living conditions at this post were called deplorable.

No change was recommended in the $20,000 for noncommissioned officers' quarters at Ft. Hoyle, nor in the $140,000 for a hospital at Ft. Humphreys. While other buildings here are not first class, Gen. Summerall said, they would do.

In the Ft. Sam Houston item, the War Department recommended raising the $250,000 for officers' quarters to $322,800, and adding $100,000 for non-commissioned officers' quarters, while retaining the $150,000 hospital appropriation. Housing for families was an urgent need here, the witness said.

Ft. Sam Houston, Gen. Summerall said, would house troops now at Ft. Francis E. Warren.

Training of Division

Mr. Wurzbach, of Texas, referred to the idea of the consolidation of the 2nd Division in full at Ft. Sam Houston for training, and asked why some of the troops were housed elsewhere. The Chief of Staff replied that all troops of a division were not necessarily together in a theater of operations, and that the command and staff of the 2nd Division was consolidated at Ft. Sam Houston on occasion of command post exercises. Gen. Summerall said he believed the division could function under the present system.

The hospital at Ft. Sam Houston cares for about an equal number of Veterans' Bureau patients as Army patients, Gen. Summerall said. It is required to accommodate them to capacity, maintenance expenses being prorated.

Recall Wall St. Bomb

Mr. Hill, of Alabama, interposed that this was an ideal arrangement.

Living conditions at Ft. Jay were also deplored. The War Department, in addition to the original $25,000 for nurses' quarters and $400,000 for non-commissioned officers' quarters, recommended adding $184,000 for officers' quarters.

Gen. Summerall touched upon the important character of the defenses of New York City, and Col. Wainwright, of the committee, recalled the quieting effect of the quick appearance of United States troops on the scene of the Wall Street explosion.

No changes were recommended in the $13,000 for noncommissioned officers' quarters at Jefferson Barracks, nor in the $25,000 for noncommissioned officers' quarters at Hot Springs National Park Army and Navy General Hospital.

Reduction in appropriations for non-commissioned officers' quarters from $382,000 to $340,000, and for the post exchange from $35,000 to $15,000, were recommended in the Langley Field item. The bill provides $40,000 for a noncommissioned officers' service club; $750,000 for officers' quarters; $510,720 for barracks; $40,000 for a guardhouse; $50,000 for a garage; $45,000 for a theater; $40,000 for a gymnasium, and $20,000 for a magazine.

The bill provides $250,000 for officers' quarters at Ft. Lewis, where, the witness said, it was hoped to have a division.

May Have Motor Troops

Provision is made for $115,000 for wards at Letterman General Hospital, and $45,000 for stables or garage at Camp McClellan, Ala. "Or garages" was added, Gen. Summerall stating that motorized troops might be sent to Camp McClellan.

Appropriation of $50,000 for barracks at Ft. McKinley was eliminated from the bill, another bill having provided for that post, where there was a fire since introduction of H. R. 1665.

No change was offered in the bill as it related to March Field: noncommissioned officers' quarters, $257,400; officers' quarters, $405,000; quartermaster warehouse, $45,000; quartermaster utilities warehouse and shops, $20,000; guardhouse, $25,000; fire house, $15,000; garage, $50,000; incinerator, $5,000; gymnasium, $40,000; post exchange, $40,000; railroad spur, $2,000.

Appropriation for $40,000 for a theater at Maxwell Field was eliminated in the War Department recommendations.

Question Theater Urgency
Mr. Stafford asked Gen. Summer-

all why the gymnasiums could not be used as theaters temporarily, where theaters are provided for in this bill. The Chief of Staff replied that that rested with Congress, but that he was testifying as to what the War Department thought most conducive to the efficiency of the Army. He added that the Air Corps is under a special strain in its peculiar activities, and should receive especial consideration when relieved from that strain. He further said that the theaters were really auditoriums, used for professional lectures as well as recreation. Combining with gymnasiums would involve repeated moving of seats, etc.

"Of course," said the witness, "barracks and quarters are the foremost consideration."

Mr. Wurzbach asked if theaters and gymnasiums would not be cheaper built at one time than separately, and the Chief of Staff replied that they would.

Reduction in the officers' quarters appropriation at Ft. Myer, from $142,000 to $110,340, was recommended. That for noncommissioned officers' quarters was left at $108,000.

Appropriations for Ft. Riley, Post Field, and Ft. Francis E. Warren were omitted from the War Department recommendation.

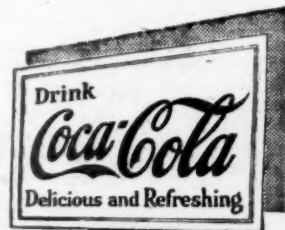

Appropriations for Walter Reed General Hospital—$67,600 for quartermaster warehouses, $9,500 for a bakery, and $104,000 for a laundry—were retained, and $53,900 combined shops and wagon shed recommended stricken out.

Add West Point

A new post was added in the recommendation of Gen. Summerall—West Point, with $246,000 for officers

pause and refresh

To get things done and enjoy doing them—to avoid being tired out. This natural, human desire has brought the tremendous popularity of the pause that refreshes. Tractor-Tanks Tested

INTENSIVE study and experiment have been in progress by the Tank Board during the past six months to determine the practicability of converting commercial tractors into tanks for emergency purposes. The recent practical tests conducted have brought forth the conclusion that there is no commercial tractor at present on the market which has suitable characteristics for conversion into a tank without very extensive modifications. The resultant vehicle would even then be make-shift.

The obvious advantages of being able to convert the commercial tractor, which is in large production, into a tank during an emergency, made it desirable to investigate fully this possibility. A complete study of the commercial tractors on the market was made in 1928. From this study the number of tractors which showed any promise for conversion into tanks was reduced to about three. One of the three was obtained and tested. The test showed that the following important characteristics of the commercial tractor were divergent from the characteristics desired in the tank: Narrow tread, high center of gravity, low speed, limited power, restricted space for crew, engine in front of the driver (limiting his vision), and general lack of cross-country ability.

The necessary modifications to make a commercial tractor at all suitable as a tank, such as, lengthening and widening the track, providing a spring suspension, arming and armoring, make it appear that the expense of conversion and the time consumed would be closely comparable with the manufacture of a special tank chassis. This conclusion is reinforced by the belief that, even assuming that the conversion is made, the resulting tank would be a make-shift.

Although it was decided that no present commercial tractor was adapted for conversion into tanks, the project, because of its importance, will be a continuing one, and if later a tractor with more favorable characteristics should be produced, further tests will ensue.

Dedicate Tablet

In honor of the first United States soldiers to die in the Northwest, a bronze tablet was unveiled on the walls of the Round Tower, Ft. Snelling, June 3. The Old Trails Chapter, D. A. R., erected the tablet.

Upon the tablet is engraved names of 26 soldiers of the 5th Infantry who died during the winter of 1819-20 while engaged in laying the foundations of present Ft. Snelling. Their names were recently brought to light through the efforts of Mrs. James T. Morris, Organizing Regent of the Old Trails Chapter, and Col. Walter C. Brown, a retired Army officer.

27th Infantry Notes

Schofield Barracks, T. H. (Special).—The response of the 27th Infantry, commanded by Col. William E. Hunt, to the World War Memorial Organ Fund to be installed at Schofield Barracks, has consisted of a monetary donation and enthusiastic cooperation and assistance in the special entertainment to be given by the American Legion Post in the "Wolfhound Auditorium." "The World War" has been secured by Schofield Barracks Post No. 6, for benefit performances in Hawaii during the week beginning June 23, and in addition to the motion picture feature of the program the 27th Infantry band will contribute melodies of the World War period.

The radio installations for barracks and quarters have been completed and the radio receiving station at the Station Hospital will soon relay programs every evening to all on the circuit. Maj. Edward A. Allen, SC, Hawaiian Division Signal officer, has been in charge of the installation, and he has been assisted in the 27th Infantry Area by 1st Lt. David M. Fowler, 27th Inf. communication officer.

Troops In China Celebrate

Tientsin, China.—The 15th Infantry recently celebrated its 69th birthday here.

Consul General C. E. Gauss received the review with Col. James D. Taylor, commanding officer of United States Army troops in China. Lt. Col. W. S. Drysdale was in command of the review.

Following the review the active and retired colors were trooped and the command assembled in front of the grandstand where Col. Taylor addressed the command on "The History of the Regiment." Mr. Gauss spoke of the achievements of the regiment since it had been on duty in China. In the course of his remarks Mr. Gauss spoke highly of the work of the work of the 15th Infantry in China.

Ft. Benning Notes

MEMORIAL Day being a legal holiday, all duties, except the necessary guard, fatigue, and the quarter-master activities incident to the movement of officers, were suspended.

Battery A, 83rd FA, fired the national salute of 21 guns at noon. The 24th Infantry band then played "The Star Spangled Banner."

All troops were paraded in their company or detachment areas during the firing of the salute. Officers in each organization read to their commands lists of members who died while serving in the organization, with a brief statement of their records.

During the firing of the salute, all transportation, both official and personal, came to a halt and all personnel out of doors stood at attention.

The graves of the post cemetery were decorated by friends, relatives, and by members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion.

Maj. Thomas F. Taylor was recently tendered a parade by the 1st Battalion, 29th Inf., on the Austin Loop parade.

Maj. Taylor is leaving the battalion, after having served as its executive officer since August, 1928, and will report to Headquarters, 29th Infantry, as the new Plane and Training Officer of the regiment.

Among those who were in the reviewing line were: Lt. Col. George G. Marshall, jr., assistant commandant of the Infantry School; Col. William M. Wilder, 325th Inf., and Lt. Col. Elvid Hunt, commanding the 1st Battalion, 29th Inf.

Following the ceremony, the officers and the ladies of the battalion gave Maj. and Mrs. Taylor a buffet luncheon on the lawn at Col. Hunt's quarters. Over 50 officers and ladies were present.

Maj. Frank Green, field director, American Red Cross, has announced the award of certificates of appointment as examiners of the American Red Cross life saving service to Lt. Wayne C. Smith, Sgt. Homer R. Pope, and Cpl. Wylie LeRoy Buchanan. All are members of the 1st Tank Regiment.

All three examiners were complimented by the field director for demonstrating ability, not only to pass the rigid test imposed by the life saving service, but also to impart instruction to others interested in the nation-wide campaign, which is being waged by the American Red Cross to lessen the loss of life by drowning, shock, and asphyxiation.

Detail Survey Officer

The commanding general, 3rd Corps Area, has detailed Maj. Thomas G. McNicholas, Inf., Md. NG, as surveying officer for United States property in that State, vice Maj. Frank Gemmill, QMC, Md. NG.

TYSON BILL FOLLOWS PRECEDENT, WAINWRIGHT REPORTS

RECOGNITION was given to Civil War officers, like that provided in S. 465, giving war-time rank to certain officers and former officers, Col. Wainwright stated to the House of Representatives in reporting the late Senator Tyson's measure out of the House Military Committee.

Senate amendments eliminated objections which formerly prevented passage of this bill in the House, the Senate committee report stated. This report was embodied in that of Mr. Wainwright.

More than 100,000 former emergency officers will be benefited by the section permitting use of title and insignia on occasions of ceremony, the Wainwright report notes. The late Secretary Good is quoted in the Senate Committee's report to the effect that about 611 retired officers would get automatic increase in rank, and that an indeterminate but small number of active officers would advance on retirement.

No increase of pay or allowances is provided.

START WORK ON THREE CRUISERS

WORK has been started in the mould lofts of the Navy Yards at Philadelphia, Puget Sound and New York on Light Cruisers Nos. 36, 34 and 32, three of the five light cruisers authorized Feb. 13, 1929, and originally intended under the fifteen cruiser program for completion in 1932 and 1933.

TO CONVERT USS FULTON

WORK has been started on the USS Fulton, the Navy's first submarine tender, to convert her into a gunboat. When complete she will be commissioned and will replace the USS Galveston, assigned to the Special Service Squadron. It is expected that the complement of the Galveston will take over the Fulton sometime in September.

The Fulton, which is now out of commission at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, will be equipped with a Diesel engine which was taken from an old German submarine. Other necessary machinery will be installed and probably two 3-inch or 4-inch guns. When supplanted by the Fulton, the Galveston will be scrapped.

LT. COL. J. LESTER EISNER, QM-RES, AIDE TO NEW JERSEY GOVERNOR

WORD has been received that Lt. Col. J. Lester Eisner, of the Quartermaster Corps Reserve, has been appointed Lt. Col. of the New Jersey National Guard and assigned to Governor Larson's staff.

Col. Eisner was commissioned a Captain in the Quartermaster Corps Dec. 8, 1917, and served for the period of the war, having been on duty in the Purchase, Storage and Traffic Division of the Quartermaster General's Office. Col. Eisner is Vice-President of the Sigmund Eisner Company, manufacturers of clothing, located in Red Bank, N. J.

"30 DAYS" MEANS "28 DAYS," SAYS COMPT. GEN. MCCARL

WHEN the War Department grants an officer 30 days' leave it doesn't mean what it says. At least that is what Capt. Frederick H. Gaston, FA, DOL, now assigned to Cornell University's Military Department, has learned from Comptroller Gen. McCarl. And the lesson in mathematics cost him money for Mr. McCarl rules that in taking a full 30 calendar days, he had really taken 32 days' leave and that inasmuch as only 30 days were charged against his record he overstayed his leave by two days and must pay the overpayment back to the government.

Capt. Gaston's mistake was in taking his leave in February, for the gist of Mr. McCarl's ruling is that 30 days, under Army regulations, really doesn't mean that but means one month. February having only 28 days when the officer took his leave he overstayed his leave by two days in taking a full 30 days off.

"Leave granted for '30 days' will be treated as one month under the regulations," McCarl wrote to the officer, "and in this case leave having commenced on Feb. 4, 1921, expired on March 3, 1921. It is shown by the records that you did not return to duty until March 5, 1921, and you are regarded as having been on leave of absence for 32 days."

In conclusion, Mr. McCarl requested that the officer remit the sum "to this office without delay."

AGE LIMIT SET FOR QM-RES 2D LT. APPOINTMENTS

CORPS Area and Department Commanders have been advised by The Adjutant General that based on recommendation from The Quartermaster General, appointments as Second Lieutenant, Quartermaster Corps Reserve, will be restricted to those under 35 years of age. It is desired that no examinations be held or applications forwarded for persons who have attained their 35th birthday.

NAVAL MILITIA TO HAVE POSITION OF HONOR IN JOINT REVIEW

A PROVISIONAL brigade composed of units of the New York Naval Militia will occupy the right wing of the joint review of the New York National Guard and Naval Militia by the Governor of New York, Franklin D. Roosevelt, to be held on the parade ground in Van Cortlandt Park, New York City, at 3:30 this afternoon. This position of honor has been allocated to the Naval Militia by the Commanding General of the New York National Guard in recognition of Governor Roosevelt's long service as Assistant Secretary of the Navy. The units making up the brigade are as follows: 1st Battalion, 2nd Battalion (including artillery), 4th Battalion, 31st Fleet Division (Artillery), 32nd Fleet Division, 33rd Fleet Division, VN-3RD3 Squadron and VN-4RD3 Squadrons.

COL. DOUGHERTY EARNS DEPT. OF COMMERCE FLYING LICENSE

AN INTERESTING accomplishment has been made by Col. A. J. Dougherty, Inf, DOL, of Indianapolis, Ind., who, at the age of 56 years, has passed the Department of Commerce requirements for "Private Pilot" and has been granted license No. 13481. Col. Dougherty has taken up flying as a sport and says that he finds "nothing supernatural about it." "In my opinion," he commented, "any man of my age who has taken care of his body and has the necessary qualifications can learn to fly. During the year that I have gone to the local airport for flying lessons I have had only one accident—a chap took the hub cap from my automobile."

VETO OVERRIDDEN, PRESIDENT IS ADAMANT ON PENSIONS

ALTHOUGH the Senate and House promptly and vigorously overrode his veto of the bill (S. 476) to increase the pensions of Spanish-American War Veterans, President Hoover declared June 3 that he has not changed his opinion that the legislation should have been worked out so that rich men, or men having what he deemed substantial incomes, should not draw pensions from the government. Other objections cited by Mr. Hoover against the bill were that he thought men claiming pensions should have at least 90 days service and that he disfavored disability allowances to men "who have or who may tomorrow destroy their health by vicious habits."

COMMISSIONING OF USNA CLASS ALLOWS PROMOTIONS

ONE CAPTAIN, two commanders, five lieutenant commanders and ten lieutenants, will be promoted as a result of the commissioning of the Naval Academy class on Thursday. The computation of the number of officers of each grade allowed for the coming year made following the great increase in the number of ensigns, allows an increase of one admiral, two captains, five commanders, ten lieutenant commands and twenty-two lieutenants.

UNITED STATES VULNERABLE TO AIR ATTACK, MAJOR SAYS

MAJ. HORACE M. HICKAM, AC, GSC, told the House Committee on Military Affairs last week, during its hearings on the proposed metal-clad dirigible, that there are means of establishing an air fleet on foreign soil and gaining control of the air even before gaining command of the seas. He declined to amplify the statement, but he did say that this country has weaknesses of which foreign powers are not aware and also strength which they do not know.

England, Maj. Hickam said, could establish an air force in Canada within ten days and a foreign nation could set up an enemy force in Mexico for operations against the United States in even less time. Since it could not be determined whether an air attack might be launched first from the sea or from the land, it is necessary to have a mobile force to meet all exigencies, he added.

WHAT OF THE VACANT VICE ADMIRALCY?

IN CONNECTION with the issuance of orders assigning the cruisers to one unit, a part of the Fleet reorganization program outlined by the Journal several weeks ago, there has been considerable speculation in naval circles as to whether the vacant Vice Admiralty, unused since the abolishment of the U. S. Forces in European Waters, would be utilized for this new command.

Under the proposed arrangement of assembling, not only the Salt Lake City and the Pensacola, but the other new 10,000-ton cruisers as they come into commission, into the cruiser divisions of the Scouting Fleet, there will gradually develop a real Scouting Fleet. If the Naval Treaty is ratified, the three older battleships now misnamed Scout Fleet, will go out of commission and eventually the speedy cruisers will make up this branch of the Fleet.

In this event the present organization will remain with a vice admiral in command, which will leave a vice admiralty open for some other command. Just what that will be remains to be decided but there is a possibility that later on the commander of the Air Forces of the Fleet may get this rank.

GOV. LONG, CLAD IN UNDIES, GREETED MAJ. GEN. FRANK R. MCCOY

NOT SO MANY WEEKS AGO, Huey Long, Governor of Louisiana, greeted the skipper of the German cruiser Emden, clad only in green pajamas and bedroom slippers. The German officer didn't see the point and through an emissary warned the Louisiana executive that he must apologize or the Cruiser would weigh anchor and steam from New Orleans as a protest. Governor Long apologized.

However, this week Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, USA, commanding the Fourth Corps Area, accompanied by his staff, called upon the Louisiana executive at the State mansion and found that official sitting on his bed and clad only in his underwear. The Army officers laughed and sought no apology. The Governor did not volunteer one.

CUNARD LINE REDUCES RETIREMENT AGE FOR SKIPPER

IN VIEW of the disparaging remarks sometimes made in Congress as to the retirement provisions for Army and Navy officers it is interesting to note that the Cunard Line has just put into force a reduction in the age for retirement of captains and chief engineers from 63 to 60 years.

Sir Percy Bates, chairman of the Cunard board of directors, stated that the reduced retirement age would have gone into effect sooner but for a lack of pension funds on the part of the company.

THE U. S. MARINE CORPS

Capt. Train Named Aide

CAPT. Charles Russell Train, USN, commander of the Utah, which brought the President back from South America, has been appointed Naval Aide to the President. He was born in Annapolis, Md., Sept. 19, 1879, the son of Rear Adm. C. J. Train, and was appointed to the Naval Academy from New York, 1896.

Capt. Train had active service during the Spanish-American War and during the Philippine Insurrection. In 1913 he commanded the Benham and in 1914 was appointed Naval Attache at the American Embassy, Rome, Italy, and Vienna, Austria.

He was given a temporary commission as captain in September, 1918, and October 14, 1918, was detailed to command the U. S. Naval Aviation Forces in Italy.

August 6, 1919, Capt. Train assumed command of the USS Chester, and in January, 1920, was given command of Destroyer Flotilla 2, Atlantic Fleet. In 1921, Capt. Train was transferred to the Navy Department, where he was in charge of the Training Division. In 1924 he commanded the Naval Transport Henderson and in May, 1926, was again on duty in the Navy Department in charge of the Inspection Division, Naval Reserve Section. August 4, 1928, he assumed command of the battleship Utah, where he is now on duty. He was given permanent commission as captain June 3, 1922.

Capt. Train was awarded the Navy Cross for his service during the World War.

He was also awarded the "L'Ordine dei Santi Maurizio e Lazzaro" by the Italian Government, and "Croce di Guerre" (War Cross) by Italy.

Capt. Train succeeds Capt. Allen Buchanan, who has served as Naval Aide to the President since June 24, 1929. Capt. Buchanan will be Chief of Staff, Naval War College, reporting for that duty prior to July 1, 1930.

USS Rochester Cited

THE Continental Oil Company has sent a dispatch to the Navy Department expressing its appreciation of the work of the USS Rochester in rendering assistance to the SS W. W. Bruce, which was in collision off Barnegat Lightship with SS Scottish Maiden on May 24.

Hon. Lt. Gilliss

AS A token of good will and to honor the accomplishment of one of her great naval officers, the United States will present a bust of Lt. James A. Gilliss, USN, to the Chilean National Observatory.

On May 29 the Senate passed a House bill authorizing the President to present a bronze bust of Lt. Gilliss to the Chilean Observatory, to commemorate the founding of the Observatory, which was effected by him while on a visit to that country.

Curtiss Air Trophy

SETTING a new record for the event, Capt. Arthur H. Page, USMC, won the Curtiss Marine Trophy race at Anacostia last Saturday. In winning against 24 Navy pilots, Capt. Page, the only representative of the Marine Corps competing, captured the trophy for the Marines for the second time in three years of the classic, with average speed of 164.08 miles per hour for 100 miles.

Lt. (j. g.) D. W. Harrigan, USN, on duty at the Hampton Roads Naval Air Station, upset the dope by winning the other major award offered, the Ingalls trophy, given to the pilot making the best percentage of the rated speed of his plans. Lt. Harrigan, flying a NY training plane, averaged 102.02 miles per hour for the 100 mile course, beating the rated speed of his plane by over 10 miles per hour.

The closing event of an afternoon replete with thrills was a fitting one for the occasion. Lt. Matthias B. Gardner, USN, operations officer at Anacostia, after a series of breath taking stunts, went into the "inverted falling leaf," performed for the first time less than a month ago by former lieutenant Alford J. Williams, jr. Williams and Lt. Gardner are the only pilots who have performed the feat, which is regarded as the ultimate possible acrobatic achievement with airplanes as they exist today.

Lt. Thomas G. W. Settle, USN, provided another sensation, when he made the world's second glider descent from a dirigible, being cut loose from the Los Angeles at an altitude of about 3,000 feet. Lt. Settle was substituting for Lt. Ralph S. Barnaby, CC, USN, who was ill, and in spite of the fact that this was the first time he had ever been in a glider, made a successful flight, making a perfect landing upon the flying field.

Victories in the observation torpedo and amphibian classes were won by Lt. James E. Dyer, USN; Lt. (jg) P. B. Stroop, USN, and Lt. T. D. Guinn, USN, respectively. With Capt. Page and Lt. (jg) Harrigan, they received the Hamilton award, presented by the Hamilton Watch Company for the winners in each class.

Navy Confirmations

ON May 29 the Senate confirmed the nominations of 73 assistant surgeons in the Navy, as published in last week's issue of the Army and Navy Journal.

The following other nominations were confirmed at the same time:

C. J. Moore to be commander.
Thomas Moran to be commander.
F. J. Eckhoff to be lieutenant.
H. E. Berger to be lieutenant.
J. G. Sampson to be lieutenant.
H. D. Scrymgeour to be lieutenant (junior grade).
Ammen Farenholt to be medical director.
L. R. Corbin to be paymaster.
J. L. Bird to be assistant naval constructor.
J. B. Smyth to be assistant naval constructor.
W. J. Chambers to be chief electrician.
G. C. Oaks to be chief carpenter.
O. W. Robinson to be ensign.
H. M. Mason to be paymaster.
R. D. Carmichael to be chief gunner.

Marine Corps Confirmations

ON May 29 the Senate confirmed the nominations of four additional midshipmen to second lieutenants in the Marine Corps, making in all 28 officers to be designated from the Naval Academy. They are: Nicolas J. Pusel, James M. Daly, Charles H. Hayes, Harold K. Feiock.

Capt. Baldrige Directs NI

CAPT. HARRY ALEXANDER BALDRIDGE, USN, who succeeds Capt. Alfred W. Johnson, as Director of Naval Intelligence, will report for his new duty about the last week of June. Capt. Johnson was recently appointed by the President as supervisor of the Nicaragua elections.

Capt. Baldrige is commanding officer of the Rochester, flagship of the Special Service Squadron.

Capt. Baldrige was born in Albany, N. Y., Feb. 22, 1880, and was appointed to the Naval Academy from Missouri, 1899.

He was on duty in the Bureau of Navigation from September, 1915, to October, 1917, when he was given command of the Stockton and for his service during the World War he was awarded the Navy Cross. He was also awarded the decoration of "Officier, Order of the Crown," by King Albert, of Belgium.

Capt. Baldrige completed the course at the Naval War College, May, 1921, and he was then appointed to the staff of the Naval War College, where he served for two years.

Capt. Baldrige was executive officer of the Tennessee from June 8, 1923, to June 14, 1924, and in September, 1924, was attached to the Naval Academy, Annapolis. He served as head of the Department of Seamanship and as Secretary of the Naval Institute until January, 1928, when he became commander of the Rochester.

Navy Bills Passed

FOUR public and 16 private bills were ordered reported by the Senate Naval Affairs Committee Monday at what was probably their last meeting of the session.

The Naval Observatory modernization bill, the one allowing the hospitalization of Fleet Reservists, and the measure making eligible petty officers first class for appointment as pay clerks, were favorably acted upon.

Senator Jones' bill for the acquisition of more land at the Naval Air Station at Seattle was approved at that time, as was H. R. 3801, waiving the limiting period of two years to enable the Board of Awards of the Navy Department to consider the award of the Distinguished Flying Cross to members of the Alaskan Aerial Survey.

House bills providing for the relief of the following persons were also approved: Richard Kirchhoff, Eugene A. Dubrule, Henry P. Biehl, James P. Sloan, George Joseph Boydel, Frank J. Hale, William Gervais Hill, and John C. Warren, as was a bill to authorize Lt. Comdr. J. C. Monfort, USN, to accept a decoration from the Italian Government. A similar Senate bill affecting Lt. Comdr. Ralph F. Wood, USN, was agreed upon.

With one exception these bills were passed by the Senate by unanimous consent on Thursday. This measure, to hand back the silver service set of the USS Olympia to the city of Olympia, Washington, was objected to by Senator Wesley Jones.

In a sportsman it's Fair Play

in a cigarette it's Taste

POPULARITY IN A SPORTSMAN rests first of all on fair play; in a cigarette on better taste.

CHESTERFIELD'S POPULARITY is fairly won with finer tobaccos, blended and cross-blended to give greater delicacy and richer fragrance.

IT TAKES TIME and is costly to make cigarettes the Chesterfield way, but no other way arrives so surely, so completely at what you want most . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price. LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

USNA Graduates

FOLLOWING is the list of graduates of the United States Naval Academy arranged in their order of merit for the four years' course. The figures denote their class standing.

Unless otherwise noted all those listed will be commissioned Ensigns (Line) U. S. Navy. The key letters before the names of the others signify as follows:

"SC"—To be commissioned Ensign in Supply Corps.

"C"—Physically disqualified; to resign upon graduation. Will not be commissioned.

"MC"—To be commissioned Second Lieutenant in Marine Corps.

"A"—Completed course; commission withheld pending action on physical disability.

"D"—Voluntary resignation, effective upon graduation.

"B"—Filipino; graduated, but not commissioned in Navy.

Those before whose number an asterisk appears have attained not less than 85 per cent of the multiple, and accordingly graduate "with distinction." Those whose standing is from 21 to 246, both inclusive (as shown by order of merit) have attained less than 85 per cent but not less than 75 per cent of the multiple, and accordingly graduate "with credit."

Ft. McPherson, Ga.—The inaugural games of the Fourth Corps Area and Southern Circuit Polo Tournament at Ft. McPherson May 25 drew a record crowd of more than 4,000 polo enthusiasts.

In the first game of the afternoon the Governor's Horse Guards of Atlanta defeated the combined team of the 141st FA and 108th Cav., by a score of 10 to 1. The game between the Ft. Benning and Ft. Bragg teams was one of the finest exhibitions of polo ever seen in this section of the country. Given the advantage of a three-goal handicap, Ft. Benning defeated the Ft. Bragg team 8 to 6.

On Monday University of Georgia's ROTC team was eliminated by the Savannah 118th FA, NG team 4 to 2.

In a fast and exciting game Ft. Oglethorpe finally emerged victors over Ft. McPherson after an extra chukker had been played to break the tie at the end of the game. In the last period they scored three goals, bring their total to 10, while Ft. McPherson could not add to the 7 goals they had made in the preceding 6 chukkers.

Pikesville, Md.—Displaying a hard riding, accurate shooting variety of polo, the team from the 16th Field Artillery, Ft. Myer, defeated the 110th Field Artillery, Md. NG, 12 to 1 on June 3. The visitors conceded their opponents a handicap of eight goals, so that the actual count was 12 to 9.

Ft. Douglas, Utah—At the Logan horse show held last week under the auspices of the Utah State Agricultural College Club entries were made by Lt. Col. Copley Enos and Capt. D. S. Robertson of Ft. Douglas. The latter returned with two silver loving cups won with his private mount "Pegasus," the owners class and sweepstakes championship.

Ft. Monmouth, N. J. (Special)—A mixed four from the Norwood Country Club played a mixed team from Ft. Monmouth on the polo field here May 27. The game resulted in a score of 8 to 2 in favor of Norwood.

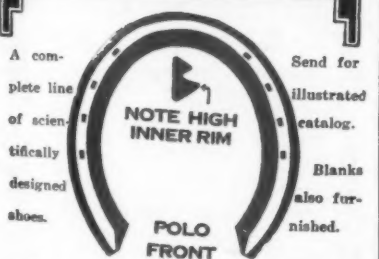

Ft. Meade, S. D.—A consignment of 22 remounts has been received from the Remount Depot, Ft. Robinson, Neb. They were turned over to Lt. C. W. Feagin, 4th Cav., for training prior to their assignment to organizations.

Ft. Hamilton, N. Y.—1st Lt. Homer W. Kiefer, FA, played an outstanding role yesterday when he made a sensational 40-yard drive for a goal that gave the First Division polo four of Ft. Hamilton a 7-to-6 victory over the Governors Island team A in an extra-period match before 500 spectators.

Governors Island gained an early lead in the first session when Lt. MacDonald Jones scored twice and Capt. Guy D. Thompson once. Kiefer shot a goal for the First Division in this period. A goal by Capt. J. W. Blue and another by Kiefer for the First Division tied the score 3—all soon after the third period opened, but Jones then put Governors Island ahead 4 to 3.

After a scoreless fourth period, Thompson registered for the visitors and Blue and Capt. Kelly Wise for the home team to tie at 5—all. In the sixth the First Division gained the lead on a goal by Wise, but Jones equalized.

Naval Academy Athletics

WHILE Navy's worst days on this year's sport schedules have been interspersed with some rays of consolation, and days of victory in all branches have occurred, May 31 was the only day of defeat in all branches.

The Varsity 150-pound crew was left out of the running in the American Henley at Philadelphia. The Plebe 150-pounders, however, were second in their event to Princeton.

Of the different dual matches the most decisive outscoring of the Navy came in the lacrosse game with U. of Maryland—5 to 1. Navy's aggressiveness was more than counteracted by Maryland's championship form.

Three home runs featured the 10-7 defeat in baseball by Ohio State. Stroh, Navy right field, brought home Gentner, first base, with his; Fessler, Ohio shortstop, bringing home three of his mates in one homer and two in a second.

U. of Pennsylvania won by 5-4 in tennis. The six singles were even, but the visitors won two out of three of the doubles.

The final event in the track meet turned a Navy lead into a 67-59 Notre Dame victory. Navy won the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard run, the two-mile run, the pole vault (Kohlas establishing a new local record of 13 feet), the discus throw, the shot put and the broad jump.

Navy oarsmen who participate in the Poughkeepsie intercollegiate regatta June 26, will overtake their classmates on summer training cruise at Kiel by leaving on the Leviathan June 28 and transferring to the Republic at Cherbourg, it was learned this week.

Army Wins All But One

Only a 1-0 defeat by Bucknell in baseball prevented May 31 from being a perfect day in Military Academy sports. Army did the better hitting, and Coughlin struck out nine to the Bucknell pitcher's seven, but closer fielding was displayed by the winners.

George Lermond set a new record for both the Military Academy and the U. of Pittsburgh stadium when he won the 880-yard run in 1:55 3-10. Army won the meet 85-41.

The cadets won over Wesleyan in tennis, 7-2.

The golf score over Villanova was 12-0.

The rifle team won from the 103rd Engineers, N. Y. NG, 2755-2651. Cadet Allen scored 280 out of a possible 300 for individual high.

725 Candidates to Report

SEVEN hundred and twenty-five candidates for admission to the Naval Academy, including alternates, have been ordered to report at the Academy June 12 for physical examination. Of this number, it is expected that approximately 600 will finally qualify.

Sport Briefs

Headquarters Troop, 4th Cavalry, by defeating the Herford, S. D., nine, 10-2, keeps its percentage at 1000. The Ft. Meade Post Detachment team recently defeated Piedmont, S. D., 40-10.

Recent post tennis finals at Ft. Benning crowned Lt. D. D. Hedekin champion in the singles, the same officer and Capt. Richard Bassett doubles champions, and Mrs. H. W. Brimmer ladies' singles champion and mixed champion with Lt. Hedekin.

Intra-mural baseball opens at Gowdy Field, Ft. Benning, on June 14. There will be two leagues, Class A minor league, from which stars may be taken into the Class B or major league.

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

The Army's annual golf championship will be held on the Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., course the week of Sept. 22-27, according to an announcement by Maj. Gen. C. H. Bridges, chairman of the Army Central Golf Committee. In selecting Ft. Leavenworth the committee in charge initiated the recently adopted policy of alternating the place of the tournament between Washington and some central location in the middle West.

It cleans the crevices

between the teeth

BETWEEN the teeth... in tiny crevices... there's where decaying food collects. Mere surface brushing won't dislodge these impurities. Colgate's floods them out... in active, penetrating foam surges into the hard-to-clean places where sluggish pasty dentifrices won't go... Dissolving the deposits... washing them away... cleansing the crevices thoroughly, as well as polishing the surfaces brilliantly. Try Colgate's... it is approved by more dentists; used by more people, than any other toothpaste made.

SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1930

"The present day pay (of the services) is quite less and is not commensurate with the service of the high-class men employed."—ATLANTA, GA. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

CONGRESS IS DRAWING to a close, and still no action on the proposed pay increase for the services. The Joint Congressional Pay Committee could reach its conclusions without hearings; the data in its possession are all-comprehending. But it is still talking about hearings, and as our news columns report, is considering the creation of a sub-committee to hold them during the interim between adjournment and the meeting of the regular session in December. Of course, the sub-committee, concerned with the elections, would not meet until the latter part of November.

THIS DELAY is becoming an increasing matter of surprise to us. The Senate and House are flying deliberately in the face of an unanimous public sentiment. We do not expect the pay question to figure in the elections in November. We would deprecate anything of the kind. But it naturally follows that the men and women who have endorsed the project will want to know why nothing was done beyond the appointment of a commission, which does not meet.

THE EXPLANATION given is that personal conferences are being held, and, moreover, that members are so completely occupied with such general matters as the tariff and the disarmament treaty that they have not the time to consider the increase of pay for the services. The answer to this statement is that Congress has passed a bill increasing the pension of Spanish war veterans, this over the veto of the President, and also a bill increasing the pay of the firemen and police of the District of Columbia. We respectfully suggest to the committee and to the Congress that the conditions of pay in the Services are, to say the least, as important as those of the protectors of property and order in the Capital City.

WE HAVE HEARD rumblings of dissatisfaction among members of the two Houses at the slowness with which consideration is being given to the pay question. It is not at all improbable the time may come when some members will go to the extent of suggesting the discharge of the committee and the consideration of this matter by the regular committees of the two Houses. This would be most unfortunate. The membership of the committee is made up of distinguished and able men, who know conditions and who can be depended upon to do the right thing. Our only complaint is their disposition to give other matters the right of way.

IT IS OUR IDEA that the members of the committee, realizing that a substantial increase in pay must be made, want to await the time when business conditions have improved, and there is no danger of a deficit in the Treasury. Leaders in the two Houses do not conceal their anxiety as to the situation which will face the government at the end of the next fiscal year. The appropriations made for that period and the estimate of receipts indicate a difference of some $67,000,000; and to take care of this large sum the Government will have to borrow. If the pay increase were granted, the amount of bonds to be issued would be considerably larger. Therefore, the financial aspect of the question is playing its part in delaying consideration. It is pointed out, however, that gloomy forecasts have been made in the past, and they have not been realized. In any case, it is urged that nothing would be lost by the committee making its report to the two Houses.

THE PACIFISTS constantly are comparing defense costs with those of education, and are working overtime to show how much better would be the training of the youth of the Nation if the money spent on the services should be spent on our schools. Congressman Coyle, of Bethlehem, Penn., who was formerly in the Marine Corps, and by the way was one of its ablest officers, held a competitive examination in his district for a West Point vacancy. Among the eighteen young men were college students and an enlisted man of the Army, stationed at Fortress Monroe. The enlisted man got the highest mark and will receive the appointment. Verbum sap.

THE BATTLE LINES between the President and the Senate over the ratification of the disarmament Treaty are being tightly drawn. Mr. Hoover wants immediate action. He is apprehensive that delay will embarrass Premier MacDonald and as a result cause his defeat and the consequent defeat of the Treaty in the House of Commons. The opponents of the Treaty say that all that is necessary is time for the American people to know the provisions of the Treaty, and general knowledge will cause its rejection. It is fully expected that party lines will be broken. The small Navy men are opposed to the Treaty because it calls for building. Some of the Western senators are opposed to it because of the concessions made to Japan. There are Democrats who do not wish the Republican Party to get the credit for an international achievement, although they are somewhat embarrassed because the Democratic leader participated in the negotiations. In any event, the defenders of the Navy expect to cause such an impression as to prevent additional concessions being made in the International Conference to be held in 1932.

Sympathetic Friend—"Yes, dear; why?"

Y. A. W.—"Fred sent me a postcard yesterday from the fort where he is on an inspection trip and the silly post-office people put a Tia Juana mark on the envelope."

A Cafeteria of Learning

Near a military post a sergeant spotted a private wearing his tunic inside out, carrying a bicycle pump in one hand and feeding himself cabbage leaves with the other, and, upon completing mastication of each leaf, shouting:

"Who's all right? Our mayor!"
It was barely within the non-com's flabbergasted power to summon the buck over for breath-inspection. The private was cold sober.

"You—you—you," spluttered the sergeant, struggling for an epithet to fit his astonished indignation—"Say, is THAT military?"

The private grinned his embarrassment.

"It's like this, sergeant," he explained. "You know I'm taking a college course by correspondence. Well, the sophomores just wrote me to haze myself."

Cincinnati Chapter, Reserve Officers' Association, will tender a luncheon on June 4 to Lt. Col. John R. Musgrave, CAC (DOL), about to leave for Hawaii for station.

The new president of the chapter, Maj. James R. Stewart, Eng. Res., has taken office.

At a recent weekly luncheon of the chapter, it was announced that the artillery group of which Lt. Col. Lewis S. Ryan, FA, is chief of staff, again leads the Reserve divisions of the 5th Corps Area in extension school work, with an average of per member units of six hours and 15 minutes.

Establish Identity

At one of our Western military posts there was a young recruit who during the first few weeks of his Army life was made the victim of so many Army jokes that he doubted all men and their motives. One night while he was pulling his first tour of guard duty, the tall figure of one of the regimental officers loomed up in the darkness before him.

"Who goes there?" he challenged.
"Maj. Moses," replied the officer.
The rookie scented another practical joker. "Advance, Moses," he said, "and give the Ten Commandments."

T. F.—Ft. Douglas, Utah, is four miles from Salt Lake City business district. Street cars leave post on 8 to 20-minute schedules. Taxi fare costs $1.50. Beautiful drives and scenery make a car most desirable. City schools are used. School buses come to post. Good white servants cost $10 per week. U. of Utah students may be hired for $15 to $20 per month for part-time work. Salt Lake City markets are excellent, with reasonable prices. The post has a good commissary, carrying staples. Visiting and newly assigned officers are accommodated temporarily in the Officers' Club. There are 32 sets for married and one set with eight two-room suites for bachelor officers. In January, 1928, seven married officers were on commutation status. Numerous apartments are available, within the commutation allowance of all but 2nd Lts. 300 miles of paved road lead from the city. The reservation has a nine-hole golf course, to be made 18 during the year. Dues are $2, with no initiation fees. Tennis courts are under construction. A duck club, organized by post personnel, has leased property. There is good hunting and fishing nearby. Snow is heavy, but weather mild in winter. The city is noted for the heavy fall of smoke in the valley during the winter. Summers are warm, seldom overwarm. Wool is worn from October to April. The garrison is the 38th Inf. (less 1st Batt.), with QM, MC, FA, OD, and SC detachments.

Association enrolls BOGGS and BUHL

One of PITTSBURGH'S oldest and finest Department Stores

Boggs and Buhl—Department Store—Pittsburgh, Pa.

IT is with considerable pride that we announce the admission to membership in this Association of Boggs & Buhl, one of Pittsburgh's oldest and finest department stores.

WE know that our individual members in Pittsburgh and vicinity will more than welcome the enrollment of this splendid department store, and give as much as possible of their department store business to it, inasmuch as a decided increase in their membership savings will result.

FROM its very beginning in 1869, and by its high quality of merchandise, fairness and dependability in dealing with customers, and courteous obliging service, Boggs & Buhl's Department Store has played an important part in the community in which it stands and which it serves.

Film is found by dental research to discolor teeth and foster tooth disorders.

Germs cause tooth decay

WHAT causes decay? Germs. Germs with tartar are a contributory cause of many other dental troubles.

Germs on teeth—and there are millions of them—are difficult to reach. A dingy, glue-like film envelops them and holds them in contact with the teeth.

Film gets into crevices and remains. It clings so stubbornly that brushing alone cannot dislodge film completely. So Pepsodent was developed after years of laboratory study and experiment.

How Pepsodent removes germs

Pepsodent removes film with complete safety to enamel.

"Brigadier General, U. S. Army. As assistant to QM Gen. and later as Director of Finance. As such he was responsible for and had authority over the preparation of estimates, disbursements, money accounts, property accounts, finance reports, and pay and mileage of the Army. The success of the Finance Department was, in a large measure, due to his breadth of vision, executive ability, initiative, and energy."

Col. Hanigan, commanding officer, 1st Inf., died at Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyo., May 26, 1930.

Col. Hanigan was born in Jefferson City, Tex., June 28, 1871. His military record is long and most honorable. His Regular Army record is as follows: Pvt., Corp. and Sgt. Troop

Praises General Board

(The following statement was issued to the press by the senior senator from California in response to the criticism of some newspapers as to the testimony of members of the Naval General Board who appeared before the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate.)

By SENATOR HIRAM W. JOHNSON
SOME newspapers have brutally assaulted officers of the United States Navy because their testimony before the Foreign Relations Committee has militated against the London Treaty. These assaults are unjustified and outrageous. The Foreign Relations Committee itself called the General Board of the Navy before it and asked for the views of these officers. The others who have testified came because I summoned them; and all have testified just as witnesses testify in Court, not as volunteers but as witnesses duly called. The responsibility for calling most of those who have appeared rests entirely with me and the witnesses thus called had no option in the matter. The Secretary of State in his testimony before the Foreign Relations Committee said he took off his hat to the Japanese for their attitude. I take off my hat to the Admirals and other officers of the United States Navy who have dared to tell the truth about a political treaty behind which is such tremendous political power when the possible consequences of telling the truth can be readily understood.

The sum of their offending is stating as required by Senators interrogating them the essentials of our national defense and the needs of our Navy. If they had stated the facts otherwise than as they and nearly all others familiar with the subject believe, they would have had the commendation and enthusiastic applause of the very people and press who now abuse them. They have been true to the highest traditions of the American Navy, and deserve from all Americans only commendation and praise.

B, Third Cav., Aug. 9, 1893—July 19, 1898. Pvt. and Corp. Troop G, Eighth Cav., Aug. 6, 1898—April 19, 1899. 2nd Lt. of Inf., April 5, 1899—Feb. 1, 1901. 1st Lt. of Inf., Feb. 2, 1901—Oct. 3, 1907. Capt., Oct. 4, 1907—May 14, 1917. Maj., May 15, 1917—June 30, 1920. Lt. Col., July 1, 1920—Oct. 15, 1923. Col., Oct. 16, 1923. Commanding 1st Inf., Ft. Francis E. Warren, since July 9, 1929.

Col. Hanigan had other military service than in the Regular Army. He was a 1st Lt. of the Tex. Inf. from July 22, 1898, to March 9, 1899. In the World War he was a Lt. Col. of Inf., National Army, from Aug. 5, 1917, to July 29, 1918, when he was promoted to the grade of Col. and assigned to the 344th Inf., which reg. he took to Europe. After the Armistice he returned to the U. S. and was mustered out as a Col. of the National Army, Jan. 28, 1920. Since that time he has served in his Regular Army grades.

Col. Hanigan was a distinguished graduate of the Army School of the Line at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., 1910. He also graduated from the Army Signal School in 1911.

Col. Hanigan's service was long and graced by two Silver Star citations for gallantry.

Lt. Col. W. B. Beck, USA, ret., died at Passias, N. J., May 28, 1930.

Col. Beck was born in Pennsylvania, July 31, 1837. He attended the U. S. Military Academy from July 1, 1855, to Oct. 24, 1856. He was commissioned as 2nd Lt., 5th Artillery, May 14, 1861; served as 1st Lt., 11th Pa., Inf., from April 24, 1861, until mustered out on June 26, 1861; promoted 1st Lt., Jan. 26, 1865; Capt., Oct. 30, 1876; retired at his own request after 30 years' service, April 24, 1891. He was brevetted 1st Lt. May 10, 1864; Capt. Oct. 27, 1864; Maj. and Lt. Col. March 13, 1865.

Lt. Col. Alfred A. Maybach, CAC, died at Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco, Calif., May 26, 1930.

Col. Maybach was born in Dundee, Ohio, Dec. 7, 1875. He was appointed to the U. S. Military Academy from Ohio June 18, 1897; commissioned 2nd Lt. AC, Feb. 18, 1901 (took rank from Feb. 2, 1901); promoted 1st Lt. Sept. 16, 1905; Capt. CAC, July 18, 1909; Maj. July 1, 1920; Lt. Col. July 16, 1920 (recess appointment expired

Navy Supply Bill Passed

CONFEREES of the Senate and House reached an agreement on the Navy appropriation bill on Monday and both houses gave final approval to the measure. Carrying $380,573,111, it now goes to the President.

Ignoring the Attorney General's recent opinion fixing the authorized officer strength of the line of the Navy at 5,559, the present limit of 5,499 officers as provided by the House was continued. Last week the Senate increased the allowed strength to 5,559, but their conferees gave way to the House. The increase in the number of warrant and commissioned officers allowed by the Senate in view of the Attorney General's opinion was struck out and the present authorized strength continues.

The bill as agreed upon totals only slightly more than the House figures, but carries some of the Senate increases as a cut of $336,000, made possible by a reduction in the price of fuel, balances these appropriations. It exceeds the 1930 appropriations by $18,388,084, but is $1,699,565 under the budget estimate for 1931.

Practically all of the increase in funds allowed the Naval Reserve were approved. The sum of $4,720,000 is appropriated, instead of $4,600,000, as proposed by the House, and $4,740,000, as proposed by the Senate.

An appropriation of $75,000 proposed by the Senate to re-erect the dirigible hangar now at Hampton Roads, at Lakehurst was struck out by the conferees. Limitation was placed upon the contract obligations which may be entered into at the naval air station, San Diego. The limit of $300,000 agreed upon was thought necessary, because of the probability that the Army will in the future relinquish some of their holdings at North Island to the Navy.

The House agreed to $113,000 for construction at radio and radio compass stations as proposed by the Senate.

A compromise was effected upon the funds allotted for the Marine Corps Reserve. Seventy-four thousand dollars is provided for the pay of assigned men, instead of $65,000, as proposed by the House, and $82,875, as proposed by the Senate.

The larger appropriation for automobiles, proposed by the Senate, was adopted. Ten LaSalle cars will be purchased for use of high ranking officers, seven for the Navy and three for the Marine Corps, by the amendment, which makes $2,000 instead of $1,800 available for the purchase of each car.

A requirement that the appropriation for completing the modernization of the USS Pennsylvania and Arizona be allocated in equal amounts was struck out, allowing the surplus left from one to be used on the other.

Four hundred and twenty-one thousand dollars was allotted to the Virgin Islands, instead of $327,000, as proposed by the House, and $527,000, as proposed by the Senate. The contingent fund of $1,000 for the President of the Naval War College was authorized.

The amount made available for improving and equipping navy yards for construction of ships was continued as an annual appropriation instead of being available until expended as proposed.

Promotion Bills Killed

THAT the House Naval Affairs is strongly opposed to promotion of officers of the Navy by any means other than selection by a board of admirals was illustrated this week when they disapproved three bills seeking to better the prospects of promotion of three individual officers.

These measures, the Gherardi, the Cleary, and the Parsons bills, have been a source of contention for the past year, and one of them, to promote Capt. Gherardi to be a rear admiral, created a clear division of opinion between the then Acting Secretary of the Navy Jahncke and the then Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, Rear Adm. Leigh.

At the time of the disagreement, Mr. Jahncke issued a statement which he read to the committee, giving forth his views on promotion. He considered that promotion was a reward for past services, as well as the handing over of a trust, and favored the promotion of Capt. Gherardi by legislation on this ground. The committee, however, at that time and again last Monday, held strictly to the principle of selection.

Weddings

AT Trinity Church, Portsmouth, Va., May 31, Miss Nancy Lovejoy King, daughter of Mrs. King and the late William Hervey King, Jr., became the bride of Lt. Thomas Mason Tarpley, Jr., USA, son of Mrs. Tarpley and the late Thomas Mason Tarpley, of Spartanburg, S. C.

The bride entered the church with her brother, William Hervey King, 3d, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory satin, the basque conforming to the figure, the sleeves made princess style with a large bow of moire and Alencon lace at the waist. Her veil was of ivory lace, caught with iridescent French orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of lilies. Miss Catherine Jack, of Augusta, Ga., was maid of honor.

The other attendants were Mrs. James E. Bowen, of Ft. Moultrie, S. C., and Miss Mary Coleman Parrish. Little Miss Barbara King, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

The best man was Lt. J. Bowen, of Ft. Moultrie, S. C., and the groomsmen were Lt. W. L. McCormick, of Ft. Monroe; Lt. K. Bailey and Lt. T. Smothers, of Ft. Moultrie, S. C., and Lt. W. Bullock, of Ft. Benning, Ga.

Lt. and Mrs. Tarpley left later for a wedding trip by automobile, and will be at home after July 1 at Ft. Moultrie, S. C.

The interest of society in both civilian and army circles is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Marjorie Hutchins and Lt. Joseph Ingham Greene, which was solemnized Thursday, May 29, 1930, at 8:30 o'clock in the morning, in the chapel of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Columbus, Ga. Dr. S. Alston Wragg performed the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate family.

The bride, who is a popular member of Columbus society, wore a three-piece suit of black and white with pointed fox fur and hat of panama-laque, with accessories of black.

Mrs. Greene is a sister of Mrs. Peter Faringa, who is the wife of Lt. Faringa.

Lt. Greene is the son of Mrs. William Camp Greene and is the descendant of a distinguished New England family. He was graduated at West Point with the class of 1923 and for the past two years has been attached to the experimental department of the 24th Inf.

Immediately following the ceremony, Lt. and Mrs. Greene left for a short wedding trip. During the summer they will go to Washington and New York on leave.

They are at home at their quarters in Block 23, Ft. Benning.

The wedding of Miss Marian B. Mayne and Capt. Robert W. King was solemnized May 10, 1930, at the quarters of Capt. and Mrs. J. Van Ness Ingram, of Ft. Armstrong. Chap. Herbert A. Kinard read the marriage lines.

The lanai of the quarters was attractively decorated with a background of vines, and Mexican creeper was used to form a canopy. At one end tall palms and vases of pink gladioli and white lilies were used, before which the bridal party stood.

Miss Mayne was gowned in beige lace, with hat and slippers to match and she carried a shower bouquet of cream colored roses. Miss Mabel L. Mayne, her sister, who was her maid of honor, wore a dress of figured net in pastel shades, with a black net hat and brocaded slippers. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of violets and sweet peas. Capt. Ingram was the best man.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony.

A charming bride of May 28, 1930, was Miss Lois Lurline Hedrick, whose marriage to Lt. J. W. Cox, Jr., took place at 2 o'clock, at post chapel, Ft. Riley, Kans., where the bride's father, Maj. L. H. Hedrick, is stationed and where the Hedricks make their home.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop Wise, Episcopal Bishop of Kansas, and an organ recital preceded the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a stately and beautiful gown of ivory satin made on empire lines, the skirt falling in a

Ens. Edsall graduated from the Naval Academy in the class of '27.

The wedding will take place on June 28, and the young couple will live in New London, Conn., where Ens. Edsall has been ordered to Submarine School.

Capt. R. C. MacFall, USN, and Mrs. MacFall announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Beekman MacFall, to Ens. George M. Holley, USN, son of the late Col. G. M. Holley, USA, and Mrs. Holley. Ens. Holley is of the class of '30, USNA.

No immediate date has been set for the wedding.

Herbert Devall Langhorne, of Cambridge, Mass., has issued invitations for the marriage of his sister, Miss Zita Mary Langhorne, to Lt. Edward William Cleton, USN, on Saturday afternoon, June 14, at 1 o'clock, at St. Peter and Paul church, Easton, Md., and also to a reception which will immediately follow the ceremony at Oaklands, the estate of Mr. and Mrs. John Tweedy, Easton, Md. Miss Langhorne is a niece of W. W. Gwathmey, jr., of Norfolk, Va.

three-pointed train in the back, over which were the rich folds of the court train, suspended from the shoulders, and the long and flowing veil of tulle. She carried white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Anne Van Natta, maid of honor, of Ft. Riley, wore a dress of chantreuse tulle and lace, made with a bouffant skirt. Her bouquet was of Mme. Drew roses.

The bridesmaids were dressed in point d'esprit net in various pastel shades and they carried rainbow nosegays in harmony with their gowns. They were: Miss Marion Morgan, Miss Jane Crosby, Miss Jane Price, Miss Katherine Morris, Miss Margaret Richmond, and Miss Anne Cox.

A reception followed the wedding and was held at Godfrey Court. A three-tiered cake was cut by the bride with her husband's sword.

Following the reception the young couple left for a wedding trip. They will be at home after July 1 at Ft. Humphreys, Va.

The marriage of Miss Alice Cutts and Mr. John Tillotson Wainwright, was solemnized June 2, 1930, at Epiphany Church, Washington, D. C., followed by a reception at the Washington Club, with a distinguished group of guests in attendance.

Miss Cutts is the daughter of Col. Cutts, USMC, and Mrs. Cutts, who came from Haiti, where Col. Cutts has been commanding the 1st Brigade of Marines, in order that their daughter might be married in Washington, their old home.

The church was decorated with palms, ferns and feathery smilax, with quantities of white blossoms, an effective setting for the summery gowns of the bridal party and the guests.

The Rev. Dr. Ze Barney Phillips, rector of Epiphany, officiated. Miss Cutts was given in marriage by her father. The bridesmaids included the Misses Morgan, Butler, Pearson, half sister of the bridegroom; Bartol, and Jones. Miss Sallie Phillips was the maid of honor.

The bridegroom had as best man his quarters and $288,000 for band barracks and practice-room.

Gen. Summerall stated that he did not know what would be the reaction of Mr. James, chairman of the committee, now ill, but that it was thought best to strike out the provision of the bill for officers' quarters at Rockwell Field, $150,000, in view of the bill lately offered to remove activities of that field elsewhere, as had always been contemplated.

Mr. Hill contended that the need for the Maxwell Field theater was an important one, and Gen. Summerall said that the elimination of the Rockwell Field appropriation might make it possible to provide for that theater.

The largest appropriation—that of $2,641,000 for Shreveport, La., where an attack group is to be stationed—was left unchanged: barracks, $843,000; noncommissioned officers' quarters, $646,000; officers' quarters, $825,000; guardhouse, $32,000; garage, $30,000; incinerator, $5,000; quartermaster utilities warehouse and shops, $20,000; quartermaster warehouse, $45,000; hospital, $100,000; post exchange, $40,000; gymnasium, $40,000; fire station, $15,000.

In connection with the $75,000 authorized for Plattsburg Barracks for kitchen and mess halls, it was pointed out that the shacks now serving were especially exposed in winter.

Other Items of Bill

Other authorizations of the bill in its original form were recommended unchanged as follows:

Ft. George G. Meade: Noncommissioned officers' quarters, $50,000; officers' quarters, $200,000.

Mitchell Field: Officers' quarters, $375,000; noncommissioned officers' quarters, $180,000; quartermaster warehouse, $45,000; quartermaster utilities warehouse and shops, $20,000; guardhouse, $32,000; garage, $50,000; post exchange, $40,000; gymnasium, $40,000; fire station, $15,000; railroad spur, $5,000.

Ft. Monmouth: Noncommissioned officers' quarters, $100,000; officers' quarters, $290,000.

Ft. Monroe: Noncommissioned officers' quarters, $46,600.

Ft. Ontario: Hospital, $15,000.

Boeing Planes

Set the Standard

THE history of the Boeing Airplane Company, whose factory at Seattle is the largest plant in the United States devoted exclusively to the manufacture of airplanes, is one of the outstanding business romances of the industry.

Boeing success has been founded on the development of military aircraft. Since the World War the greatest number of pursuit aircraft produced by any manufacturer in the United States has been built by Boeing. The latest Boeing achievement in military aircraft is a single seater fighter. It possesses by far the best performance of any plane of this type ever developed, and is credited, by aeronautical authorities, as a triumph in airplane design and construction.

Training planes, fighting planes, large armoured attack planes, torpedo planes, and long distance patrol boats, these types varying in weight from 2,600 to 27,500 pounds, have also been produced for the government.

A large and important share of all the airplanes for United States government use, both naval and military, have been built by Boeing.

Unveil New Tecumseh

THE bronze successor to the famed old wooden Tecumseh, the midshipmen's god of two point five, was unveiled at Bancroft Hall in the Naval Academy May 31. After introductory remarks by Rear Adm. Samuel S. Robison, superintendent of the Academy, and a short speech by Secretary of the Navy Adams, the statue was turned over to the Academy by Rear Adm. Arthur L. Willard, who represented the class of '91 which presented the bust.

Dorothy Bierer, daughter of Rear Adm. Bion B. Bierer, a member of the class of '91, unveiled the statue. It was accepted by Adm. Robison on the part of the Academy and by Andrew M. B. Jackson, first honor man of the graduating class, on behalf of the midshipmen.

"When it was learned," said Adm. Willard in presenting the bust, "that the most venerated object here at the Academy and the one which has the most completely engaged the affections of midshipmen as the 'God of Two-Five' and as a symbol of good luck and success for over half a century—the wooden figure of the old Indian Chief which for about forty years, sailed the seas as the figurehead of the U. S. S. Delaware—was suffering from the inroads of time and would soon crumble away and be only a memory, we turned our attention to it."

"The suggestion was made that we, the class of '91, should reproduce the 'Patron of Two-Five' in bronze so that he and his good influence could go on offering hope, encouragement, and inspiration to future generations of Midshipmen. This idea met with instant and unanimous approval and a hearty and generous response financially from the living members of the class and the relatives of those deceased including the family of Kaga Kazu Nire of the Imperial Japanese Navy who graduated here with us and who gave his life in the service of his country in the Russo-Japanese War."

"After obtaining authority from the Navy Department we at the U. S. Naval Gun Factory undertook to cast the bronze figure and although it was no easy task, yet, thanks to our skilled artisans, the result was a complete success and we obtained a perfect replica of the wooden figure. It will interest you to know that we poured over four thousands pounds of bronze metal into the mold. This metal was obtained from ordnance materials captured in war and therefore has an historic importance."

"When the casting was completed we invited the U. S. Commission of Fine Arts to inspect it. The members of this Commission—the recognized highest authority on Art and Architecture in America—were so impressed with the appearance of this historic figure that they said we must be careful to provide a suitable pedestal for it. At our request the Commission furnished a design for this pedestal which was prepared by Mr. John W. Cross, the architect member of the Commission. In keeping with this design we obtained a pedestal of green granite from Vermont. The rough block weighed fifteen tons, the second largest ever quarried at these quarries."

"In order that this bronze figure may lose none of the potent power with which the Midshipmen have endowed the historic wooden Indian Chief, we have been careful to transfer the 'wooden brains' and the 'heart' of the ancient wooden Indian into this new one of bronze!"

"They were trepanned out of the wooden figure and together with the original arrows, tomahawk and calumet—the pipe of peace—were placed inside the figure in a cast bronze box hermetically sealed after sterilization by heat and exhausting the air."

"In order that proper records for the future may be preserved, we have placed inside this bronze box a complete list of all members of the class of 1891 and a short resume of their history, photographs of the wooden and bronze busts, outline of the design of the U. S. S. Delaware, and other documents in connection with the history of this venerated character and his bust."

step-father, Comdr. Clement Briddle, USN, ret. The ushers were Lt. Cutts, USMC, brother of the bride, and Messrs. Dickinson, Tucker, Griffin, Matthews, Cuyler, Scull, Hackney, Page, and Sumner. Col. Cutts and Lt. Cutts were in uniform, as were many Marine officers from Quantico.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin antique, fashioned on princess lines. A shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley completed a charming ensemble.

Mr. Wainwright, who is in the foreign service, has recently been appointed vice consul to Havana and will take his bride to the Cuban capital to make their home.

Much interest is centered in the announcement of the wedding plans of Miss Mary Booth, of Columbus, and Capt. Joseph Andral Nichols, which will be solemnized Saturday, June 14, at 6 o'clock in the evening at the St. Paul Methodist Church, Columbus, Ga.

The bride will be given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert Cole, and will have as her matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. Robert Cole.

The bridesmaids will be Miss Dorothy Knight and Miss Louis May Lynch.

Dr. McCain Nichols, of Rock Hill, S. C., brother of the groom, will act as best man.

The groomsmen will be Capt. Curtis DeWare and Lt. Ralph Pulsifer.

Capt. Samuel Buracker, Lt. Jacob Moon, Mr. Louis Coleman and Mr. H. K. Park, will be ushers.

Capt. Nichols was stationed at Ft. Benning before going on foreign service. His tour of duty there has just been completed.

Gen. Brown To Address AIC

GRADUATION exercises of the Army Industrial College, on June 20, will be addressed by Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, Chief of Engineers.

Navy Treaty Discussed

There has been no limitation, other than the prohibition against our building the types we need; there has been no reduction, but on the other hand an increase of building for this country; no saving to the taxpayer, for a billion-dollar program is required and no real parity.

Opposition to the Treaty, at first almost negligible, is assuming formidable proportions and, given time, opponents declare that public sentiment will kill it. In view of this it is believed probable that Democratic opposition to "railroading" it through will have the effect of delaying final action. How much this will develop is problematic, but it seems assured that the minority will make every effort to prevent the administration getting political credit for the agreement, particularly when it can be accomplished by the simple expedient of obstruction tactics without the necessity of going on record against it.

Possibly the outstanding development of the week was the testimony of Rear Adm. H. E. Yarnell, widely heralded as "supporting" the Treaty, and opposing the generally accepted naval attitude. Under a critical analysis, the much-discussed memorandum of Adm. Yarnell could be utilized as the deadliest weapon placed at the disposal of the opposition.

Summarizing his discussion of the pact, he predicates his argument on the fact that we went into this conference, due to the eight-year holiday we have indulged in, not with a 5-5-3 ratio, bought and paid for in the Washington Conference and accepted as THE American naval policy, but with an actual, in statu quo ratio of 8.25 to Japan's 10 in cruisers, 5.8 to 10 in destroyers (nominal), and 12 to 10 in submarines.

According to his figures we came out of the conference with 10 to 6.46 in cruisers, 10 to 7.03 in destroyers, and 10 to 10 in submarines. Clearly the fallacy lies in his assumption that the negotiations were predicated on the status quo. As a matter of fact our contention, based on our national naval policy, was that, under the Washington agreement, we were entitled to the ratio adopted then even though the United States had not built the ships it was entitled to under this agreement.

His argument that even under the Washington Treaty, which prevented us from having a real naval base either in the Philippines and Guam, made it impossible for us to carry the war to Japan and that therefore a further weakening of the ratio and of our Fleet made no difference, can be accepted only on the assumption that the administration went into this conference with the understanding that the new ratio was to be on the basis of existing tonnage, an abandonment of our accepted naval policy.

Predicated on his assumption that successful offensive operations in the Pacific can only be carried out successfully if we have adequate repair facilities and drydocks in the Philippines; sufficient military force to hold a base until the fleet arrives; a naval force twice as strong as the enemy; equipment of Guam as a secondary base, and a merchant marine sufficient to supply the necessary lines of supply, he argues that the new Treaty has little effect on the far Eastern situation.

Real significance can be attached to his statement that "It may be observed that the United States has violated this ratio by failure to build up to it during the past ten years."

In this lies the crux of the situation. Close students of the naval problems involved believe that in the London agreement the United States has abandoned flatly the dearly bought national policy of a 5-5-3 ratio, accepted in 1922, but not taken advantage by the U. S. in new constructions as the other powers did. They believe further that acceptance of the theory of "status quo" lays us open to an even worse beating when the 1935 conference is convened and particularly object to the provision in the treaty that makes provisions for two years beyond the present life of the pact by specifying that the last of our big cruisers cannot be completed until 1938.

According to the consensus, or at least the great majority of naval opinion, ratification of the Treaty marks a complete abandonment of the existing naval policy of a 5-5-3 ratio Navy and of the accepted defense policy, thoroughly worked out in our war plans, of a defensive campaign in the Atlantic and an offensive campaign, the best defense, in the Pacific. Under the pact, they claim, the United States would be forced into the position of

Range Rules Much Changed

CHANGES in regulations relating to marksmanship promulgated in Circular No. 25 of the War Department alter present provisions to a notable degree.

The special paragraph referring to the Coast Artillery Corps in determining the percentage qualified in the present course is rescinded from AR 345-1000—Records and Reports of Qualification in Arms. The basis of the qualification percentage is stated in g.1 of that regulation—the number who complete the percentage course. It is found, according to that unchanged (Please Turn to Back Page) being unable to do anything more than defend the actual coast lines of our continental borders, and would be unable to repulse even overt action against our far Pacific possessions.

USNA Week Colorful

MARKED by the traditional splendor and brilliance of Naval custom, June week at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis once more has been written in the pages of Academy history and 403 members of the graduating class have laid aside the cadet uniform forever.

Among the most colorful events of the week were visits and inspections by a prince of the royal blood of Spain and the President-elect of Colombia. The prince, the Infanta Don Alfonso, first cousin of King Alfonso of Spain, motored to the Academy Monday morning, being received with official honors and reviewed a full-dress parade of the regiment of midshipmen under escort of Rear Adm. Samuel S. Robison, superintendent of the Academy.

President-elect Enrique Olaya visited the Academy Tuesday, accompanied by his staff. His arrival was marked by the national salute of 21 guns, fired from the battery of the station ship Reina Mercedes. For two hours, under the escort of Adm. Robison, he inspected the Academy, and was much impressed with the full-dress parade, which was culminated by the presentation of the Colors to the First Company, commanded by Midshipman Lt. Thomas B. Hughes, of Kansas City, Kans. Shorn of the time-honored kiss that tradition had always made a part of the ceremony because Academy officials believed it detracted from the dignity of the occasion, nevertheless the ceremony was impressive. In accordance with the custom, the presentation was made by Miss Albert Ely, also of Kansas City, fiancée of Lt. Hughes.

Two of the more exclusive social functions also were a part of Tuesday's program. Supt. and Mrs. Robison were hosts to the graduates and girl friends in the spacious grounds about their residence in Blake road. While this function was being staged members of the Class of 1931 were hosts to their friends at a class ring dance given in Luce Hall. This marked the formal dedication of class rings and was a brilliant function. Members of the Class of 1932 entertained their friends at a dance in MacDonough Hall.

The outstanding event of the week, of course, was the graduation exercises when 403 diplomas were awarded by Secretary of the Navy Charles F. Adams in Dahlgren Hall. The ball the night before in the same hall also was a high spot that will be remembered by the members of the graduating class when they are far separated from the days of their cadet life. Approximately 8,000 danced and looked on and will put their whole time to it. Ever since the creation of the joint congressional committee, the House delegates have declared that they were anxious to start to work, but the pressure of other business has kept the Senators continually putting the matter off, effectively blocking any investigation of the problem.

With the close of the session pending, the House members would like some action. Three of the Representatives, French, Barbour, and Oliver, will have to start to work right away next fall with the annual appropriation bills, and with this year's supply measures out of the way, are of the opinion that now is the time.

It is confidently believed that hearings once underway, could be concluded in less than two weeks, and with a subcommittee of even only three or four could go into the matter thoroughly and those members who could attend would have all possible information on the subject in the voluminous material which has been furnished them and in the printed record of the hearings.

Officers' Sons to USNA

FORTY-TWO SONS of officers and men of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps successfully completed the examination for admission to the Naval Academy held annually for Presidential appointments, and have been ordered to report at the Academy for physical examination June 12. Seventy-nine candidates took the examination.

Under the law, the President can appoint but fifteen midshipmen annually, and the appointments are given to the sons of officers and men of the service. The following named fifteen candidates received the highest marks on the examination, and, as a result, win the fifteen Presidential appointments:

paragraph, by dividing the total number qualifying in the course just completed by the total number of qualified and unqualified who completed the present course.

In TR 150-10 (Rifle-General), that part of paragraph 9 (Minimum Standard of Efficiency) reading "The standard for Coast Artillery organizations from and including the calendar year 1927 will be that 80 per cent of the organization must be qualified as marksmen or better" is rescinded. Paragraph 11—Personnel to Fire—loses the words "subject to ammunition allowances prescribed, etc., and personnel is reclassified as follows:

All enlisted men of the Infantry, Cavalry and Corps of Engineers for whom additional compensation is authorized for special qualification in the use of the rifle are required to fire Course A, and are authorized to fire the small bore course. All officers of less than 15 years' service, on duty with troops, are required to fire the course fired by troops with which they are on duty. Enlisted men, CAC, are required to fire Instruction Course D once in an enlistment period, and are authorized to fire the small bore course. All enlisted men not included above who are armed with the rifle, automatic rifle or machine rifle, or for whom additional compensation is authorized for special qualification in the use of the rifle are required to fire Course C or D, the former till qualified as marksmen or better. They are likewise authorized to fire the small bore course. All officers not included above are authorized to fire the small bore course, and such of the other courses as may be chosen by the local commander. This also applies to members of civilian rifle clubs, Cadets, 3rd Class USMA, and the Organized Reserves. The National Guard is authorized to fire the small bore course and such of the other four courses as the chief of the Militia Bureau may prescribe. Recruits of the Infantry and Cavalry are required to fire the small bore course.

The Pistol Course, Dismounted (TR 150-20) is changed to rescind paragraph 6a (Who Will Fire) and substitute:

(1) All enlisted men for whom additional compensation is authorized for special qualification in the use of the pistol are required to fire. All enlisted men of Cavalry, except bandmen, are required to fire unless they have qualified as marksmen or better * * *

(2) All officers of less than 15 years' service, on duty with troops required to fire, are required to fire. All other officers and Cadets, 3rd Class, USMA, are authorized but not required to fire.

(3) All other personnel armed with the pistol will fire such instruction practice as may be prescribed by the unit commander in accordance with special ammunition allowances prescribed in AR 775-10.

The requirement of paragraph 64c, that Coast Artillery organizations must qualify 80 per cent or better of personnel, is rescinded.

In TR 150-30 (The Automatic Rifle), paragraph 63—Antiaircraft Fire—is rescinded. A new classification under paragraph 68 (rescinded) provides:

Two enlisted men per each active automatic rifle, and all officers of less than 15 years' service, on duty with troops so armed, are required to fire either Course A or Course B. CAC personnel are authorized to fire the 1000-inch course only. Other Infantry and CE officers are authorized to fire Course B or C. National Guard members are authorized to fire A, B or C, as prescribed by the chief of the Militia Bureau. No one will be permitted to fire this weapon for record unless qualified as marksman or better, with rifle or automatic rifle.

Paragraph 34 of the regulation on the Machine Rifle (TR 150-34) is changed so as to rescind Organized Reserves from Personnel to Fire, and to limit the enlisted men of the Regular Army firing to two men per active machine rifle. This paragraph also prescribes that the officers and enlisted men required to fire the known distance practice course, shall also fire the 1,000-inch course. The paragraph on antiaircraft fire is rescinded.

All references and subject-matter pertaining to Course B and field firing occurring in TR 150-35 (Machine Gun) are rescinded. Table II under Course A has been limited to the 1000-inch range. The requirement for the expert gunner rating has been changed from 361 points to 320; that for 1st class gunner, from 330 to 285; that for 2nd class gunner, from 225 to 230. Paragraph 91 is amended to exclude all persons other than the one firing from proximity to the gun.
